2024 ARC Annual Awards Program

The Arkansas Recycling Coalition (ARC) unites industry professionals, government agencies, nonprofit organizations, private and public businesses and individuals in a common effort to promote Reduce, Reuse, Repurpose and Recycle as the primary means of Sustainable Materials Management in Arkansas. Comprised of over 250 members, ARC fosters a sharing of ideas by providing its members with opportunities to further their knowledge, increase their industry awareness and network with other like-minded leaders from across the nation. With this mission, ARC strives to increase the effectiveness of resource recovery in Arkansas.

ARC's Annual Awards Program recognizes individuals, small and corporate businesses, organizations, and industry leaders who have made a significant contribution to the advancement of waste reduction, recycling, and sustainable materials management in Arkansas over the past year. This year, the 2024 ARC Annual Awards Program will be held in conjunction with the ARC Annual Conference & Trade show scheduled for September 9-11, 2024, at the Oaklawn Racing ♦ Casino ♦ Resort in Hot Springs, Arkansas. Announcement and presentation of the ARC awards will be made at a special ARC Awards Luncheon to be held during the Conference September 10, 2024.

Recipients, in addition to receiving recognition at the Awards Luncheon, can request assistance in obtaining media coverage in their local communities. If requested, an ARC representative will be available to participate in a re-presentation of the award at a location and to the group determined by the award recipient. Photos taken during the presentation and a Press Release will be sent electronically to the Recipient.

ARC's Annual Awards Program is open to both members and non-members. If you applied in a previous year and did not receive an award, you may reapply in the same or a different category. However, recipients of any ARC Award within the previous three years are NOT eligible to apply.

Award Categories

Individual Recycler of the Year Award

The Individual Recycler of the Year Award honors an individual who has made a significant contribution to the advancement of sustainable materials management in Arkansas over the past year. Judges will be looking for an individual who: demonstrates professional leadership in the pursuit of an integrated approach to waste avoidance, reduction, recycling and sustainability; is a positive community role model; leads by example; seeks opportunities to promote recycling and sustainability within his/her community; uses innovative approaches to educate others; and has a willingness to share information and encourage other persons/businesses/agencies to implement an effective sustainable materials management program .

Community Involvement Award

To receive the Community Involvement Award, a business, organization or individual must have met two (2) criteria. First, the nominee must be a positive community role model. Secondly, nominee must visibly promote waste avoidance, source reduction, beneficial reuse, landfill diversion, and sustainable materials management within the community or region in which it is located. The ideal candidate will support city, county, regional and state recycling activities by being actively involved in the community's waste reduction efforts; seek opportunities to promote recycling and sustainable materials management efforts within the community; educate citizens and peers about recycling; and encourage others to take recycling efforts home.
